London’s luxury segment keeps shining
London continues to absorb new entrants at the high-end of its hotel market.
Continued buoyancy is still apparent in London’s luxury hotel market despite an almost constant growth in capacity.
London now matches Hong Kong as the top destination worldwide with the greatest concentration of 5-star properties in the more than 150 markets rated and inspected by Forbes Travel Guide. Recent 5-star openings include ME London; Corinthia Hotel London; and the West End’s Café Royal. Imminent additions are 10 Trinity Square; the Shangri-La, at The Shard; and Four Season’s Heron Plaza.
There is stiff competition for the limited real estate available, both in existing hotels and potential conversions.
